Students for Justice in Palestine has been on U.S. campuses for decades, with frequent protests urging the liberation of Palestinians and boycotts against Israel. The loosely connected network, known as SJP, says it has more than 200 chapters across the U.S. and Canada.

SJP has had a vocal presence at Columbia University in recent days and at one point said it had walked away from talks with school leaders until administrators pledge not to have them arrested or forcefully removed from their encampment on the Ivy League institution's West Lawn.

FOLLOWING THE MONEY: ANTI-ISRAEL PROTEST GROUPS

OVERVIEW

Student protests on college campuses over the Israel-Hamas war are a continuation of the violent Black Lives Matter movement from several years ago. These protests have been orchestrated by various groups, including Students for Justice in Palestine and Jewish Voice for Peace.

For years, researchers have sought to trace the source of the group's funding but it has been difficult as these groups use legal loopholes or are not required to disclose donations. However, left-leaning groups tied to George Soros, along with the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, the Tides Foundation and the Sparkplug Foundation are known sources of funding.

BACKGROUND

A Coalition Of Anti-Zionist Groups Are Behind The Campus Protests At Many Universities

“Student Protests Over The Israel-Hamas War Have Popped Up At Many College Campuses ...” “Student protests over the Israel-Hamas war have popped up at many college campuses after the arrest of demonstrators at Columbia University earlier this month.” (“A Look At The Protests Of The War In Gaza That Have Emerged At U.S. Colleges,” The Associated Press, 4/30/24)

- The Protests Are A Continuation Of The Black Lives Matter Movement. “Student activists who are not themselves Palestinian say that they have joined the movement for a wide variety of reasons: anguish over a humanitarian crisis in Gaza; a rebuke of university and police response to protests; a commitment to intersectional justice where any group’s fight should be everyone’s fight; the idealistic desire to be a part of a community effort; and a sense that the fight for Palestinians is a continuation of the work started on behalf of oppressed people during the Black Lives Matter movement.” (Katherine Rosman, “Universities Face An Urgent Question: What Makes A Protest Antisemitic?” The New York Times, 4/29/24)

The Protests Have Been Orchestrated By A Coalition Of Student Groups Including Students For Justice In Palestine And Jewish Voice For Peace. “Protests on many campuses have been orchestrated by coalitions of student groups, often including local chapters of organizations such as Students for Justice in Palestine and Jewish Voice for Peace. They’re banding together as umbrella groups, such as MIT’s Coalition Against Apartheid and the University of Michigan’s Tahrir Coalition.” (Collin Binkley, Steve LeBlanc and Bianca Vazquez Toness, “Students Protesting On Campuses Across UK Ask Colleges To Cut Investments Supporting Israel,” The Associated Press, 4/24/24)

- “The Groups Largely Act Independently, Though There Has Been Some Coordination.” (Collin Binkley, Steve LeBlanc and Bianca Vazquez Toness, “Students Protesting On Campuses Across UK Ask Colleges To Cut Investments Supporting Israel,” The Associated Press, 4/24/24)

It Is Difficult To Trace The Money That Palestinian Advocacy Groups Received However, Some Supporters Have Disclosed Donations

“It Is Difficult To Trace The Money That Supports Palestinian Advocacy Groups” As They Are “Not Required To Disclose Their Funding To The I.R.S.” “It is difficult to trace the money that supports Palestinian advocacy groups. Many entities are new, local or not required to disclose their funding to the I.R.S., and the cause is often fueled by grass-roots efforts.” (Katie Glueck, Katie Benner and Sheera Frenkel, “How The War In Gaza Mobilized The American Left,” The New York Times, 4/12/24)

The Left-Leaning Rockefeller Brothers Fund And The Tides Foundation Have Disclosed Contributions. “Some supporters that have disclosed donations include the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, a left-leaning foundation, and the social justice-focused Tides Foundation.” (Katie Glueck, Katie Benner and Sheera Frenkel, “How The War In Gaza Mobilized The American Left,” The New York Times, 4/12/24)

- Both Groups Have Supported IfNotNow, Adalah Justice Project And The U.S. Campaign For Palestinian Rights. “Both have backed major advocacy groups including IfNotNow, Adalah Justice Project and the U.S. Campaign for Palestinian Rights, according to tax filings and donors.” (Katie Glueck, Katie Benner and Sheera Frenkel, “How The War In Gaza Mobilized The American Left,” The New York Times, 4/12/24)

Soros’ Open Society Foundation, Which Is Now Led By His Son Alex Soros, Has Funded Jewish Voice For Peace (JVP). “Jewish Voice for Peace has received funding from Open Society Foundations, the network founded by the billionaire financier George Soros and run by his son, Alex Soros.” (Katie Glueck, Katie Benner and Sheera Frenkel, “How The War In Gaza Mobilized The American Left,” The New York Times, 4/12/24)

GROUPS ACTIVE IN CAMPUS PROTESTS

STUDENTS FOR JUSTICE IN PALESTINE (SJP)

SJP Has Increasingly Run Afoul Of College Administrators And Has Been Active On U.S. Campuses For Decades. The Group Does Not Release How Much It Collects In Donations

SJP Is A “Loosely Connected Network” That Has Been Active On “U.S. Campuses For Decades.” “Students for Justice in Palestine has been on U.S. campuses for decades, with frequent protests urging the liberation of Palestinians and boycotts against Israel. The loosely connected network, known as SJP, says it has more than 200 chapters across the U.S. and Canada. On its website it says its mission is ‘to empower, unify, and support student organizers as they push forward demands for Palestinian liberation & self-determination on their campuses.’ Last month, it joined calls for a national student walkout on college campuses.” (Heather Hollingsworth and David Crary, “Longtime Israeli Policy Foes Are Leading US Protests Against Israel’s Action In Gaza. Who Are They?” The Associated Press, 11/16/23)

- The Group Is Affiliated With 200 Independent Chapters. “National Students for Justice in Palestine (NSJP), a national organization affiliated with around 200 independent chapters, has had a vocal presence at Columbia University in recent days and at one point said it had walked away from talks with school leaders until administrators pledge not to have them arrested or forcefully removed from their encampment on the Ivy League institution’s West Lawn.” (Andrew Miller, “Anti-Israel Protests Nationwide Fueled By Left-Wing Groups Backed By Soros, Dark Money,” Fox News, 4/26/24)

“Increasingly SJP Has Run Afoul Of College Administrators, Including At George Washington University, Arizona State University And Brandeis University.” (Heather Hollingsworth and David Crary, “Longtime Israeli Policy Foes Are Leading US Protests Against Israel’s Action In Gaza. Who Are They?” The Associated Press, 11/16/23)

SJP Has Not Released To The Public How Much It Collects In Donations And “Researchers And Pro-Israel Groups Have Spent Years Trying To Trace The Network’s Funding.” “Researchers and pro-Israel groups have spent years trying to trace the network’s funding and have been skeptical of the poverty claims. They note that the national group collects donations, but the amount has not been made public.” (Alan Blinder, “Inside The Pro-Palestinian Group Protesting Across College Campuses,” The New York Times, 11/17/23)

SJP Has Alleged Ties To A Group Linked To Hamas

Researchers Have Cited SJP’s Connections To The American Muslims For Palestine, A Group Mired In Litigation Over It Possibly Being Linked To Hamas. “They have also cited the network’s intellectual and financial connections to American Muslims for Palestine, a Virginia group mired in litigation over whether it is an ‘alter ego’ for a disbanded organization linked to Hamas.” (Alan Blinder, “Inside The Pro-Palestinian Group Protesting Across College Campuses,” The New York Times, 11/17/23)

“The Anti-Defamation League Accuses It Of Anti-Israel Propaganda ‘Laced With Inflammatory And At Times Combative Rhetoric.’” (Heather Hollingsworth and David Crary, “Longtime Israeli Policy Foes Are Leading US Protests Against Israel’s Action In Gaza. Who Are They?” The Associated Press, 11/16/23)

Funding (SJP & Within Our Lifetime)

SJP's Fiscal Sponsor Is Westchester Peace Action Committee Foundation (WESPAC). The Group Also Sponsors Within Our Lifetime

WESPAC Is The “Fiscal Sponsor” Of SJP And Has Previously Received A Six-Figure Donation From A Nonprofit “Bankrolled” By George Soros. “NSJP operates under Westchester Peace Action Committee Foundation (WESPAC), a fiscal sponsor, whom Fox News Digital previously reported received a six-figure donation from a nonprofit bankrolled by the George Soros network.” (Andrew Miller, “Anti-Israel Protests Nationwide Fueled By Left-Wing Groups Backed By Soros, Dark Money,” Fox News, 4/26/24)

- The Foundation “Quietly Serves As The Financial Linchpin For Within Our Lifetime, National SJP, And Other Pro-Palestinian Groups By Acting As Their Fiscal Sponsor.” “Founded in 1974, Wespac’s guiding principle, he said, is ‘nonviolent protests against injustice, discrimination, war, and the causes of climate change.’ The group also quietly serves as the financial linchpin for Within Our Lifetime, National SJP, and other pro-Palestinian groups by acting as their fiscal sponsor — an arrangement in which a nonprofit collects donations on behalf of other groups that do not have nonprofit status themselves. Wespac’s revenue has more than doubled since 2019.” (Luke Tress, “Westchester Charity Manages Funding For Hardline Pro-Palestinian Groups,” The Jerusalem Post, 2/2/24)

WESPAC’s Funding Is “Largely Unknown.” “WESPAC, whose funding is largely unknown, has espoused anti-Israel rhetoric for years, including accusing the government of ‘apartheid,’ ‘ethnic cleansing,’ ‘collective punishment’ and ‘war crimes,’ according to NGO Monitor.” (Andrew Miller, “Anti-Israel Protests Nationwide Fueled By Left-Wing Groups Backed By Soros, Dark Money,” Fox News, 4/26/24)

“WESPAC Does Not Make Its Fiscal Sponsorships Public.” (Luke Tress, “Westchester Charity Manages Funding For Hardline Pro-Palestinian Groups,” The Jerusalem Post, 2/2/24)

“For National SJP And Within Our Lifetime, The Only Sign Of The Relationship Is A Line Of Text At The Bottom Of An Online Donation Page Or A Notice Of WESPAC’s Office Address On The Donation Receipt.” (Luke Tress, “Westchester Charity Manages Funding For Hardline Pro-Palestinian Groups,” The Jerusalem Post, 2/2/24)

“WESPAC Has Sponsored National SJP Since At Least 2019 And Within Our Lifetime Since 2020, According To Archived Web Pages.” (Luke Tress, “Westchester Charity Manages Funding For Hardline Pro-Palestinian Groups,” The Jerusalem Post, 2/2/24)

SJP Funding From The Sparkplug Foundation Was Funneled Through The Westchester Peace Action Committee Foundation (WESPAC). The Group Has Also Received Support From The Cultures Of Resistance Network And The Peace Development Fund

SJP Has Received $20,000 From The Sparkplug Foundation That Was Funneled Through WESPAC. “SJP has also received funding from the Sparkplug Foundation, a New York-based nonprofit run by Gelman and her husband, Yoram Gelman. The couple funneled their $20,000 donation to the group through WESPAC in 2022, according to public filings.” (Isabel Vincent, “George Soros Is Paying Student Radicals Who Are Fueling Nationwide Explosion Of Israel-Hating Protests,” New York Post, 4/26/24)

Felice Gelman Is A Former Wall Street Banker Who Has Dedicated Her Fortune To Pro-Palestinian Causes. “And a former Wall Street banker, Felice Gelman, a retired investment banker who has dedicated her Wall Street fortune to pro-Palestinian causes, funded all three groups.” (Isabel Vincent, “George Soros Is Paying Student Radicals Who Are Fueling Nationwide Explosion Of Israel-Hating Protests,” New York Post, 4/26/24)

- Gelman Previously Served On WESPAC’s Justice And Peace In The Middle East Board And Went To Gaza On Behalf Of The U.N.’s Relief And Works Agency, Which Has Been “Slammed For Its Support Of Hamas.” “Gelman was previously on WESPAC’s committee for Justice and Peace in the Middle East in 2009 when she was invited to Gaza by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, according to the group’s website. The UN group has been slammed for its support of Hamas.” (Isabel Vincent, “George Soros Is Paying Student Radicals Who Are Fueling Nationwide Explosion Of Israel-Hating Protests,” New York Post, 4/26/24)

“SJP Has Received Funding From The Cultures Of Resistance Network And The Peace Development Fund. It Is Unclear How Much They Have Received.” (“Students for Justice in Palestine (SJP): Available Funding and Other Information,” NGO Monitor, 11/5/23)

Within Our Lifetime Is Sponsored By WESPAC And The Organization Doesn’t Have To Disclose Its Donors Due To Legal Loopholes

Within Our Lifetime Was Founded By Anti-Israel Protester Nerdeen Kiswani. “WESPAC has also given money to Within Our Lifetime, founded by the ubiquitous anti-Israeli protester Nerdeen Kiswani.” (Isabel Vincent, “George Soros Is Paying Student Radicals Who Are Fueling Nationwide Explosion Of Israel-Hating Protests,” New York Post, 4/26/24)

Due To Within Our Lifetime Using A Loophole, It Avoids Having To Declare Its Donors. “Within our Lifetime uses a loophole in the law to avoid declaring how much it receives from donors by not being a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, meaning it is unknown how Kiswani has benefited. However, WESPAC is named as a fiscal sponsor of Within Our Lifetime.” (Isabel Vincent, “George Soros Is Paying Student Radicals Who Are Fueling Nationwide Explosion Of Israel-Hating Protests,” New York Post, 4/26/24)
